

Invercargill City Council

Electing 12 City Councillors

Tim SHADBOLT

My principal place of residence is in the Invercargill City Council area. I am also standing for Mayor.

Invercargill is on the cusp of a Renaissance. After many years striving to turn the City around, from the declining place I first encountered, I would like to be part of its future.

I have the inside knowledge, experience and passion to help shape the City as it defines itself in this new era. It's important we challenge the executive and change the culture within ICC. We need positive people, without self-interest, to work together as a team.

We will soon have a newly completed beating heart in the central city and the greatest challenge is selling our lifestyle and facilities to more people. We need to focus on creating a family friendly City that embraces everyone. There are many reforms about to be forced upon us. It's vital that the city has political experience and individuals who are brave enough to be a sole voice, when needed.
