

Invercargill City Council

Electing 12 City Councillors

Kevin BROWN

LET'S GO Invercargill

My principal place of residence is in the Invercargill City Council area.

Kevin Brown is a proud 5th generation Southlander who wants to step up and be part of a team with common goals for our city.

The former KB Motorcycles owner has been self-employed most of his working life and knows what it takes to run a successful business operation.

At 65 and retired, I was approached to run for council under the LET'S GO Invercargill ticket. I want to see improved levels of governance, where elected members drive the vision for the city, rather than influenced by staff views.

We need a united council with strong leadership. A council with common sense decision making that will save us money. A council that makes this city a great place to do business, to grow and be vibrant. A council that's business is the running of our city. A council that facilitates the private sector to invest in our city.
