

JUNIOR LIVING SPECIES OFFICER JOB DESCRIPTION

As Junior Living Species Officer, you will be tasked with undertaking and delivering pats, cuddles and chats with the various animals that we look after at Queens Park to the best of your ability.

Duties include:

- Feeding animals
- Telling the pigs secrets
- Loudly admiring the peacock when he shows you his tail feathers
- Helping Petra the ostrich with her daily mindfulness meditations
- Convincing the alpacas that they do not have to escape and take over the world
- Undertaking calming ASMR sessions with the rabbits

You will:

- Speaking duck is an advantage but not crucial as training provided for the right applicant
- You must have nice manners and a can-do attitude
- Have experience with Duck Duck Goose
- Promise not to teach the Zac, the Sulphur-crested cockatoo the Baby Shark song

The three winning applicants will get to have a special behind the scenes visit during the school holidays to the animal enclosure at Queens Park with lunch at the Cheeky Llama supplied.

Drop your completed application form back into the Parks Office,
CAB at 101 Esk Street, Invercargill Public Library or the Bluff Service Centre by Tuesday 6 June.

JUNIOR LIVING SPECIES OFFICER APPLICATION FORM

First name:

Last name:

Age:

Caregivers phone:

Caregivers email:

Favourite colour:

Favourite animal:

Favourite animal at Queens Park:

Any experience with animals? Please outline:

I would love this job because...

Have you ever led a duck rebellion? (Please circle one) YES / NO

If the ducks ask you to lead their rebellion, how will you talk them down? (Negotiating skills are crucial with ducks).

Please draw a picture of you looking after the animals at the park (feel free to attach another page):

